“ Dear, sweet Dolores! How I looked forward to our Sunday morning breakfasts at Toot 'N Tell every week! Your Parkinson's was taking a toll on your voice, so you didn't say much. You'd listen to those crazy stories that Jack would rip into and you'd just quietly sit there, taking it all in, until suddenly you'd come up with a zinger of a comment that broke us all up! In my mind, you sit up there in heaven as the Parton Saint of One Liners! I will truly miss you, but know that in my heart you still make me laugh. You will always be remembered by me with a smile and a deep chuckle. Rest in Peace, dear one.

“ Grandma Dee was the best grandma ever. Growing up I always knew that if I saw her I'd be fed with a delicious Italian meal followed by ice cream. She was fun, kind, and never had a bad thing to say about anyone. She had the best jewelry and whenever I would compliment her on a piece she was wearing, she'd take it right off and say "here, take it". I always wanted to take the jewelry, of course, but never did (ok, I do have a couple rings). She was sassy and quick-witted, and was always ready to make a spicy remark even in her last months. I'll miss our head boinks to say hello and goodbye. I love you Grandma Dee!
