“ I have so many memories of Ann, from when I first met her in the reception area of our engineering office at Naval Ordnance Station. A pretty office manager who handled phone calls and visitors while brightening up the office. My condolences to the family and especially me friend and roommate Bob who found a great lifetime mate and was completely devoted husband. Annster will certainly find a place in heaven and I am so sorry to have her get there before me. PS: There are only a few of us that could get away with that nickname.

Some years ago Ann and Bob were guests at a wedding my wife and I were photographing. Ann asked if I would take a picture of her and Bob and of course I did and told her if she liked the picture she could order as many as she wanted at my cost. When the proofs came back there was one great shot of her and Bob posed side by side with nice natural smiles capturing the very essence of who they were. I sent the picture to Ann and saw her a short time after that and asked how many prints she would like for friends and family. Ann responded with a polite "None." I asked why she wouldn't want such a good picture of her and Bob and she replied, "It looks just like us!"

Rest in peace my loving cousin, I love you and miss you.
