After leaving Bell Telephone he worked for two different law firms before retiring at age 72. Peter loved spending time near the water, especially sailing, water skiing, and taking his children and grandchildren out in the speedboat. He also enjoyed travelling, and faithfully served in his local church for most of his life.

“ To the family of Peter Visserman, my sincerest condolences. I worked with Peter all through the 1990'a at Varnum within the Intellectual Property Group. He was very sharp and I enjoyed his stories of the Netherlands. He was very kind to me as well.

“ I remember Uncle Pete has a hard working guy, always in the background providing for his family. He was a man of reason and had a good perspective of things. He had a kind and reassuring voice. I will miss you Uncle Pete.
