“ Momma, I miss you. It sneaks in and overcomes me when I least expect it; the tears just begin to flow like a river. I miss our talks, and I miss the laughs we had. I miss your “momma bear” hugs. Thank you for teaching me to “meet people where they’re at” and that it’s completely okay to be flawed and scarred and still deserving of love. I love you, and I miss you.

What a beautiful tribute to your beautiful Momma. I know the pain you’re feeling and my heartfelt prayers are with you all. I pray for God to give you peace and comfort as only He can do. Cherish those times and write down what she was wearing the days before she passed and the way she smelled to you. I always think of Tee smelling like Polo cologne and how pretty his legs were and speak her name often to your precious Stella. God give you strength as you go through tomorrow. It’s like God puts you in a fog during these times....if He didn’t you couldn’t bear this pain. Love you all 🙏❤️🙏!!

“ Sherry faced numerous challenges and hardships throughout her life and she was determined, caring, loving and spiritual in her efforts to persist. She fought this last battle with one precious goal in mind--to spend time with her children and grandchildren and to spend Christmas with her family. She also loved her church, her friends, all the medical personnel who helped her, prior co-workers and her dog, Sadie. This past year brought her closer to God and she was appreciative for the blessings of family and friends who eased her pain by being there. May she rest in Peace and may her children have peace knowing that she loved them most of all. I love you and will miss you, Sherry. ann

“ Sherry will always be in my heart. We have been friends for many years. Among our shared passions was a love of herons. They represented freedom to us. Sherry has now flown to her Lord's wonderful light.

Remember when the One was outside her hospital room at Duke and the 3 other birds. Sent me a pic. I may post it. She really really loved the blue heron. She said God sent that special one that day to her.

Pat, I remember her telling me about that heron and how happy it made her. Now when I see a heron, who will I call?
