“ I used to have fun going back and forth with her about Mac vs. PC when I used to be employed at Techskills in Raleigh. I remember the day she proudly came into work to announce the first Intel chip in Macs was the Intel Core Solo. Then we gave each other shinola.

“ I had the honor of working with Tara for five years at the Southpoint Apple Store.

Tara was smart, creative, intelligent, and always thinking of ways to improve things for her coworkers and customers. You could always count on Tara to show up and get the job done, and well. She shared her knowledge and passion with commitment and humor, and made a difference in many lives. She had much to give, and she gave her all.

I'm saddened to learn of her passing. I hope she found peace. The world is poorer for her absence.

“ I was so fortunate to have worked with Tara for many years at Apple. She was talented, smart and a good friend. She was passionate about teaching and also was a source of information when her team needed to solve a problem. She will be missed by her customers as well as her team. She touched so many people and her memory will stay with me forever. David Sharpe

“ I consider myself lucky to have worked with Tara at the Apple Southpoint store for the last 8 years. She was talented, kind, funny, and smart as a whip. When I couldn't figure out how to write a reboot script for a breakroom iMac, she had it figured out in a half hour. And the portraits she created on the iPad (with the new pencil) were beautiful! And the videos she had created over the years were epic. And she was so excited about the prospect of being a homeowner.

*I still can't believe she is gone. I will miss you so much, dear friend!

“ Tara was incredibly kind , ethical , warm and patient. As one of many people who she taught at the Apple store , I was introduced to so many new creative ways of doing things with photo editing. She would teach then watch for the light to come on and then we would laugh at the delay in between. The world was a better more humane place with Tara in it. She will be missed by thousands of people whose lives she touched. To her family - your daughter was amazing. My sincerest sympathy in your loss.
