

William Clarke "Bill" Morrison

April 2, 1932 - December 15, 2015

William Clarke "Bill" Morrison, devoted husband, father and friend, died Tuesday, Dec. 15, following a brief illness. He was 83. Bill was preceded in death by his loving wife of 59 years, Barbara Ann Drake Morrison.

A native of Cedartown, Georgia, born April 2, 1932, he was the son of the late Wingrave Gilmer and Tommie Love Burnett Morrison.

A resident of Cary, Bill graduated from Georgia Tech with a degree in electrical engineering. He was president of Kappa Sigma fraternity and a member of ROTC.

Following a stint in the Air Force, he excelled in a career in executive management for major national engineering firms.

Bill enjoyed raising his family and was always supportive of his three children. He was an avid golfer and was known for his corny jokes, quick wit and a positive outlook on life. A member of the MG Club of Cary, Bill enjoyed driving his 1950 MGTD.

Survivors include son Clarke and his wife Deborah of Asheville, daughter Leslie and her husband Tim of Raleigh, and daughter Andrea and her husband Mark of Charlotte. He also leaves behind four granddaughters he dearly loved: Megan, Charlotte, Sarah Anne and Katie. Bill's life will be celebrated in a private ceremony. Clark, Leslie, and Andrea thinking of you and your loving mother and father. Your father was strong loving and kind.

I will always remember the effort he put in to surprise Clark at Christmas with Sniffer the basset hound in Chelsea, Al. He achieved the surprise. It was a great Christmas. He was a good father, and good man.
